

ICELANDIC ORCA PROJECT

Help us study killer whales in Iceland!

Do you have photos?

Photographs where you can see the fin and saddle patch (grey area) of the animals allow us to identify each whale by their specific nicks, scars and other body marks. But other photographs of killer whale encounters are also valuable for our study!

Please contribute to our research and send us your killer whale photos! Thank you for your help!

Please send us your photos to info@icelandic-orcas.com

We will not publish or distribute your pictures without your written approval! Please leave your contact information
